

PIERCE IS KNOCKED OUT.

Dixon Renders Him Unconscious in the Third Round.

M'BRIDE WHIPS MURPHY.

Ten Rounds Was Necessary to Finish Him.

Ten Thousand People, the Largest Number Ever Gathered at the Coney Island Athletic Club, Witness the Mill—Other Sporting Affairs.

CONEY ISLAND, N. Y., July 7.—Never since the Coney Island Athletic club commenced pugilistic exhibitions has such a tremendous throng gathered at their arena as the Pierce-Dixon bout attracted this evening. Pierce is a great favorite in New York city, and his admirers came in full force. It is estimated that between 8,000 and 10,000 spectators witnessed the fight. Jim Corbett was given a great ovation when he and Manager Brady walked into the building. A majority of the betting men favored Dixon and gave liberal odds on him.

The curtain raiser between Murphy and McBride was for a purse of $1,000. Both men showed considerable cleverness. McBride appeared to have the best of it up to the fourth round, when he drew blood, but Murphy immediately returned the compliment. It was given and taken until the tenth round, when the referee gave the fight to McBride, as he was the fresher of the two.

At 9:30 Pierce and Dixon were given an ovation when they appeared on the stage, the former receiving the most applause. The purse was $5,000, of which the loser received $500. The seconds of Dixon were Tom O'Rourke, Jack Havelin and Morris Kelly, while Pierce was looked after by Charles Norton, Con Blorand, Nick Dunn, John White and Tommy Kelley. Timekeepers were Mike Brady for Dixon and Jim Lavelle for Pierce.

First round—Dixon led with a left after a little feinting and caught Pierce in the wind, visiting the same spot twice. A clinch followed on the ropes, but broke away and Dixon smacked Pierce with his left and again with his right. Another clinch and Dixon showed he was a good hand at inflicting a making Pierce break his hold.

Round two—After a short fight, Dixon Pierce led with a left, and a right and a left. Pierce was a little better off than in the first round, but he was not to land a right, but was met and stopped cleverly.

Round three—Dixon started in for business and went in a left and drove Pierce to the ropes. Then followed such a volley of rights and lefts that Pierce must have thought there was a shower of rain and arms. He became dazed and tried to stand up in vain. He sank to the floor and was counted out. It took nearly ten minutes for him to regain consciousness.

THE "BIKE" RACES.

An Immense Attendance at the Opening of the Chicago Races.

CHICAGO, Aug. 7.—The meeting of the wheelmen of the world began today at the South Side ball park. There was an immense attendance of spectators and thousands of wheelmen, including nearly all famous cyclists. The first event, a mile novice race, was won by Van Bockmann. Time, 2:34.5.

Zimmerman won the one-third mile Illinois championship in 44.1 seconds. The half-mile handicap was won by A. J. Brown, Cleveland, in 1 minute 12 seconds. The one mile championship, Cracks, Sanger, Sumaker, Windle and Zimmerman contested. Sanger and Zimmerman got away in the rear but soon forged to the front and began a terrible struggle.

Sanger was leading at half, when his wheel hit a fence, throwing him and the others were followed. On the top of his making a mass of broken wheels and twisted wires, from which the riders limpingly extricated themselves, though none of them were thought to be seriously injured.

The second race, half mile, for the championship gold and silver medal, F. H. Tuttle of Syracuse won in 1:22. The fourth race, half mile handicap, prizes, diamond ring, scarf pin, bicycle suit, sweater and gold buttons, A. I. Brown of Cleveland won, Paul D. Crook of Chicago second, A. T. THE COLONIA WINS.

First of the Yacht Races of the New York Club.

GLENSIDE, L. I., Aug. 7.—The Commodore cup, the gift of Commodore Morgan, was sailed for today under the auspices of the New York Yacht club. The race today held unusual interest from the fact that the cup defenders, Colonia and Vigilant, sailed their maiden race and gave the public at large an idea early in the season of their worth as sailers and how they compare in speed.

Queen Mab took part in the race and attracted much attention because of her recent rough voyage and almost miraculous escape from being wrecked while crossing the Atlantic, and the fact that she is the first large centerboard racing yacht built in England for a number of years. Other starters were the Lasca, Mayflower, Constellation, Danitessa, Bonaca, Marguerite and Ariel. The Colonia won the race. Queen Mab was second. Time, 2 hours 7 minutes; distance, 26 miles.

The Buffalo Tracks.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Aug. 7.—Phoebe Wilkes was this afternoon good enough to land the unfinished 2:13 trot by adding two heats in succession to the one obtained Saturday. The unfinished event furnished the sport of the afternoon, for the 2:15 trot and 2-year-old trotting stake was a straight affair, and the 3,000 spectators lost interest after the field in each had gone a mile.

Angeline showed her heels to the others in the big trot without much effort. Director's Flower, undefeated flyly by Director, had a cork walk in the 2-year-old trot, and she completed her fourth consecutive victory.

2:13 trot (unfinished)—Phoebe Wilkes won, 2:12.4. Hazel Wilkes third. Best time—2:12.4.

Stakes, 2-year-olds, $2,000—Directors Flower won, Chris Lang second, Queen Allah third. Time—2:23.4.

IN LITTLE COTTONWOOD.

Something About Wasatch, Our Nearest Summer Resort.

A Delightful Place for Rest and Recreation These Warm Days—A Cool Retreat.

WASATCH, Aug. 5.—A few miles up from the mouth of Little Cottonwood canyon, nestled among the trees and beside the river which bears the canyon's name, is the little village of Wasatch. At a casual glance you would estimate the population of the place at perhaps a half a dozen families, but one is easily deceived, for a great many more are distributed about amongst the thatched cottages which line the creek and extend back to the foot of the mountains. The beautifully shaded walks, and the charming view of the waters as they course by the doors of the many cottages almost incline one to believe that fairyland has been entered unconsciously, and upon entering the rustic gateway leading into "Central park" the grove of dappled light through the vision of the onlooker for the vari colored roses, the geraniums, the mignonette with its fragrant odor, the creeping vines and the carefully prepared walks bring to mind though but upon a small scale "Walden's" beautiful garden description in "Ben Hur."

High upon the mountain side shaded by the granite cliffs, stand out in bold relief the mountain pine trees and immediately below the shrub oak and wild raspberry form a pleasing verdure for the eye to view and the soul to contemplate. The roar of the stream as it courses its way down the canyon into the valleys below has a soothing influence on the tired and jaded business man who with his family, seeks rest and relief from the dust and turmoil of the city, heated as it were by a burning sun during these "dog days" of the year. This is the spot from whence came the huge blocks of granite contained in the temple and where a thousand more similar structures to be made no noticeable difference would be observable in the supply, so immense are these mountains of rock.

The writer has his family comfortably quartered at the hotel lately built at this place and when the rays of the sun are partly losing their severity, sits besides his silent steed ("the bike") and bows along through the country at a quiet pace and arrives in time to take supper in the canyon, and away again in the morning before the heat becomes oppressive. Verily, this is a chosen spot and a drink from the ice cold water, a pleasant rest in the shaded places and a sound night's sleep make one feel like new again and encouraged to take up the battle of life with renewed vigor and an almost invincible determination to win "down" and "throw at the birds."

THE CHILDREN'S DAY.

Three Thousand of Them at Salt Lake Yesterday.

The Excursion of the Juvenile; Choir a Grand Success Sunday—General Railroad Notes.

Yesterday was Juvenile choir day at Salt Lake and about six thousand people availed themselves of the opportunity of hearing the 3,000 trained youngsters and at the same time of breathing the pure balmy air from the lake. The performance commenced by the juvenile band of 100 members giving a grand parade in the pavilion, which had an exceedingly fine effect.

The vast throng of 3,000 children, clad in many colored dresses, which harmonized beautifully, produced an effect never to be forgotten.

At the wave of Mr. Stephens's baton the whole 3,000 voices sent forth a great volume of harmony in the "Rowing Song" that showed the work of the conductor had been well bestowed upon the choir.

The "America" was rendered with great enthusiasm, which showed that patriotism was not lacking in the breasts of the rising generation. Master Arthur Federer's playing on his little violin was a marvel showing that the little 3-year-old is the making of a great artist.

The juvenile band boys acquitted themselves nobly and looked quite native in their pretty uniforms. Both the concert at 3 and 5 o'clock were greatly appreciated and repeated plaudits were evoked from the listeners. Altogether it was a grand success, and highly gratifying to Mr. Stephens and the kindness of Manager Clayton of the Beach company was thoroughly appreciated.

SUNDAY AT THE LAKE.

Two Fine Concerts at Salt Lake—Attendance at Garfield.

The Sunday concerts at Salt Lake continue to grow in popularity, and the attendance last Sunday was larger than ever, although the weather was somewhat threatening.

In the afternoon Willard Weihe, the popular violinist, rendered Sarasate's "Gypsy Dances" in masterly style, and for an encore gave the "Swanee River." Miss Jennie Winston was heard to good advantage in Faure's "Santa Marie," with a violin obligato by Mr. Weihe, and in response to an enthusiastic recall, sang "Coming Thro' the Rye."

John Robinson sang the baritone solo, "The Starway," and was also recalled, and the Metropolitan Quartette gave two selections and were encored each time. This quartette is one of the finest ever heard here, but in the afternoon the effect was slightly marred through the first tenor taking his voice a beat ahead of the other singers, destroying somewhat the unity which is the essential in quartette music.

John Helms, who was down for a cornet solo, failed to put in an appearance. Those who left before the evening concert missed a treat. Hubert Arnold, who electrified his audience with his "Faust Fantasia" and was stormily recalled three times. The violinist gave two more selections, the last one being "The Last Rose of Summer."

Miss Wilcox sang "My Lover Will Come Today" and for an encore sang "Annie Laurie."

John Robinson was heard to better advantage than in the afternoon, singing "The Old Brigade" and "The Monarch of the Woods."

The Metropolitan quartette also did some excellent work, the "Soldier's Prayer" being especially well done.

Elison, the wizard, closed the entertainment with an interesting exhibition of mind reading and a wonderful cabinet test.

CARE OF REFRIGERATORS.

Some Hot Weather Hints to the Housewives of Utah.

Every woman knows that the ordinary help may be relied upon on a hot day to put all sorts and conditions of things into the refrigerator, and also that in very desperation she herself is tempted to shut her eyes and do the same thing. Certain it is that cheese and salad, meats and cucumbers get packed in with butter and milk and meat until everything acquires a flavor indescribable.

It is not possible to keep a cantaloupe in the same compartment as the butter, even though the latter be in a covered stone crock, without the butter becoming tainted. Nor can poultry, raw or highly spiced meat, be placed near unspiced milk without distinct detriment to the latter.

Even with the best refrigerator and the utmost care, the housewife sometimes confronted on a Sunday morning with a joint of fowl that is not "bad," but that is "unsalable" enough to be objectionable to the family nose or palate. If she will send out to the druggist and get some permanganate of potash, dissolve it in water and wash the meat in it, rinsing thoroughly with cold water, any slight taint will disappear. Baking soda is often used for this purpose, but it is more liable to leave a "taste" than the potash.

This permanganate is also admirable for cleaning the refrigerator, and in hot weather should be used once a week, even though the compartments seem to be perfectly clean and sweet-smelling. Much trouble might be avoided by housekeepers if they would see to it that their ice is washed before being put into the ice-chest. In Philadelphia, where it is always brought in at the back gate, the ice-man washes it under the hydrant in the yard, but other cities are not so fortunate.

Some provisions should not be put on ice every housekeeper ought to know that all meats, raw or cooked, lose in juiciness and tenderness by its action. For instance, a joint which was excellent when served hot will often become tough and tasteless if kept in the refrigerator twenty-four hours. I have seen corned beef become so hard that it chipped off like ice, though it was not frozen.

There is a simple treatment of boiled meat which keeps it palatable. If you wish to cut the meat when hot, after dinner plunge it again in boiling water or in the water in which it was cooked brought again to a boiling point, and there let it remain until cold. You will find that it will thus absorb enough moisture to keep it tender and juicy. Do not place it in the refrigerator warm.

Bologna sausage or any of the preparations in sausage skins will mold if put into the refrigerator or if shut up from the air.

Fish should not be brought in direct contact with ice, no matter what the general market practice may be. Salmon loses its delicate flavor almost completely if kept on ice. In fact, no food should ever rest directly upon ice. M. C. H.
